AT MEMPHIS THIS MORNING.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 2.—9 A. M.—There is little evidence of the disease now to be seen in any direction. The Howards have laid up most of their buggies, and appear to be nearly out of business. Some fears are entertained that the present warm weather may cause an increase of the disease. The total yellow fever deaths to date in the city and suburbs is now a little over five hundred. Many persons came into the city yesterday and to-day without passes, and some went out with passes. People in the city continue to exhibit a revived spirit regarding the quarantine restrictions.

TEXAS CATTLE FEVER.

National Associated Press to the Star.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—The Texas cattle fever is prevailing to some extent at the stock yards. One man lost six head out of a herd of twenty, and others have lost several. The disease is very peculiar. It is brought here by Texas cattle, but is not fatal with them; they infect native stock, and it is very fatal with them, but strangely enough they do not transmit it. They only take it from the Texans, and not from each other.

Many shots were fired, until the Mexican fell dead, and Keyes was so badly damaged that he died the next day. Dr. Cummins dressed Keyes' wounds, but he could not save him.

THE NOBLE REDS.

Further Details of the Battle on Milk River.

Probable Massacre at the White River Agency.

National Associated Press to the Star.

ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The White River Ute Indians number only 800 persons, including women and children, and about one-fourth are bucks. They occupy the reservation that is situated in Northern Colorado, about 150 miles south of the line of forts in Wyoming Territory, and is accessible only via Fort Rawlins. They are known as the most treacherous and ferocious of redskins, and for this reason and that they are well armed, the Territory has previously to last summer been avoided by miners and prospectors.

Last June, however, miners began to encroach upon or approach the White River country, and the uneasiness on the part of the Utes appears to have begun at that time. Subsequently they became more violent, turning out Agent Meeker and threatening his life.

The Interior Department in consequence urged on the Secretary of War the use of necessary troops to arrest the ring leaders and restore order at the agency. Necessary orders were issued to General Sheridan and Major Thornburg was charged with the mission, where he met with his lamentable fate.

MAJOR THOMAS T. THORNBURG.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Thomas T. Thornburg, the brave young officer who was killed was thirty-four years old, and leaves a wife and three children. He was a nephew of Senator Thornburg, of Knoxville, Tennessee. He was a native of that State, and was appointed to West Point Academy in 1853. He graduated in 1857, and after spending some months in Europe, went to the frontier and served until 1871, and he was elected Professor of Military Science in East Tennessee University. Here he remained two years, when he returned to the army. He was commissioned as Major of the Fourth Infantry in 1873, and since then has served at Fort Steele.

CAPTAIN J. SCOTT PAYNE.

now in command of the remnant of the expedition, is a native of Virginia, but entered West Point from Missouri. He graduated in 1858, and was appointed Second Lieutenant in the Fifth Cavalry.

FEARS FOR GENERAL TYLER.

General Tyler left Chicago about a week ago with Colonel George P. Burnside for North Park, Colorado, to hunt deer, and fears as to their safety, while not groundless, are probably premature as both are experienced and well acquainted with that country.

GOVERNOR PITKIN INTERVIEWED.

DENVER, COLO., Oct. 2.—Governor Pitkin has been interviewed. He said Indian troubles have been brewing all summer. Bands of Utes had been wandering up and down the country leaving a trail of fire wherever they went.

Four White River emissaries were here recently for two days. They seem greatly dissatisfied. There are three tribes, the other two being Uncompagres, of whom Ouray is chief, and the Southern Utes, located at Pagosa Springs. There are a little over three thousand in the three tribes, over one thousand of them being men able to bear arms.

There were eight or ten white men and probably five or six women at the White River Agency. In all probability Agent Meeker and the others have been killed. He had no means of escape, as the troops were attacked on the only road by which he could escape, and the ambush was but twenty-five miles from the agency. If his life is spared it is because Douglas did not join in the assault, and may protect Meeker to prevent the destruction of the tribe by the Government.

NO ADVICES TO NOON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Up to 12:30 p. m. neither the War Office nor the Interior Department had received any further information concerning the Indian fight at Milk River.

PROBABLE MASSACRE AT WHITE RIVER.

OMAHA, Oct. 2.—It is now almost absolutely certain that Agent Meeker and all the whites at the White River Agency have been killed.

REINFORCEMENTS FORWARDED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The following has just been received here:

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 2.—"General E. D. Townsend, Washington: We have nothing new this a. m. from the Department of the Platte.

"General Merritt was to have started this morning from Rawlins with over five hundred men.

"Six companies of the Seventh Infantry from Ft. Snelling and other companies from different points will reach Rawlins tomorrow and will follow up General Merritt.

"These additional troops will make his strength, exclusive of Major Thornburg's command, over nine hundred men, and with it about eleven hundred.

"General Crook, who left here this morning for the West, thinks this will be sufficient. I have notified him that I can give him another regiment. Duplicate sent to Secretary of War at Keokuk, Iowa.

"PH. SHERIDAN."

DRIFT FROM DES MOINES.

FELL DOWN A SHAFT—SHOT AT A MERCHANT—EMIGRANTS AND STRIKES.

National Associated Press to the Star.

DES MOINES, Oct. 2.—Evan Reese, a coal mine operator, while ascending a shaft in a bucket, slipped and fell to the bottom of the shaft. He is probably fatally injured.

Tuesday night J. W. Hoebeil, merchant at Anita, was shot, the ball grazing his lips. J. F. O'Donnell was standing by him, with a revolver pointed at his head. He grasped, threw him to the ground, and held him until help arrived.

Yesterday fifteen emigrant wagons from Kansas to Wisconsin and northern Iowa crossed the bridge. An equal number went west for northwestern Iowa.

It is understood that a general strike among the coal miners in Illinois and Iowa takes place on the 4th; also, that the operators approve the movement, as it lets them out of contracts.

The strikers held another regular meeting this morning. President Herschel in the chair. Mr. C. Leive acted as Secretary. The attendance was about 600.

Andy Dietz and John Dickhoff were elected as doorkeepers.

A report was made that the Liberty Street Furniture Company had struck yesterday.

G. Vehr, of 361 Elm street, gave the 15 per cent. advance.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1, 1879.

GENTLEMEN—Replying to your communication of this date we have to say that as our employees have expressed their satisfaction with the prices on work agreed to be paid by us in the future, we cannot see why we should make any further statement on the subject referred to.

CENTRAL FURNITURE ASSOCIATION.

It was resolved to send the communication back, and if the Association would not pay the 15 per cent. increase, that the workmen be asked to cease work if the advance was not assured.

F. Franke, of 197 Laurel street, sent word that he would pay the 15 per cent.

The men at Kreimer & Bro. sent in word that they were willing to accept the propositions of the firm, but that, as the Union was not satisfied with this, the men would strike and picket the Union.

The chairmen and machine hands of Henshaw & Sons, on Canal and Elm, reported that they laid down their work last night and were now with the strikers.

The employees of Geier & Kroger, cabinet-makers on John and Angus streets, struck last night, twenty-three men strong. The average price paid was $3.25. They joined the Union this morning.

Henry Boland, head striker at P. J. Marqua, reported that he had been discharged.

N. Rover, manufacturer of extension tables, on John and Melancthon streets, reported that he will at once give the advance asked.

George Stoffel reported that he was the only striker in the factory of Kind & Co.

The men of Henshaw & Sons held a special meeting this morning and sent a committee to the firm to see what could be done.

All workers in furniture factories were, on resolution, asked to strike at once. This does not include the men who got the fifteen per cent. increase asked for.

Mr. Zeis moved that a Committee of Five be appointed to visit Mitchell & Rammlersberg and Mudge to stop the upfitters and finishers from proceeding with further work. It is expected that as soon as they stop no more shipping could be done.

The Committee consists of Mr. August Zeis, Rudolph Wiegner, Charles Ignatius, George Riedel and Charles Knoche.

About six of the striking coopers in the Slack shops met at Workingmen's Hall this morning, but the President, Mr. Jonte, did not show up. It seems that this part of the strike is over.

P. Strietman, of Clay street, said he would not give the advance, and the men from that shop are still on the strike.

Fred. Schwenkmeier, of Western avenue, said to his men that he would give the increase if all other firms did the same.

Henry Bruckman, of 102 Logan street, gave an advance of five per cent and the men are now at work.

John Custer, of Peete street, sticks to the old price, and the men stopped.

The coopers who manufacture whisky barrels, &c., or what is called tight work, got the increase asked for, and are now at work.

The names of the following men, who are still working at the old price at Mitchell & Rammlersberg's, were ordered to be published:

Joseph Enning, H. Meyer, Joseph Horn, William Wipper, Peter Ader and F. Fuhr.

The following communication from Louisville was received:

"LOUISVILLE, Oct. 1, 1879.

"Members of the Strike:

"I am authorized to write that everything is in good showing here, that is, that Messrs. Wraupelmeier & Co. have given us the fifteen per cent. for the carpenters. The machinists will give $1 additional per week."

It has been resolved by our Executive Committee that we must submit only if a fifteen per cent. increase is given. We don't want to be bulldozed. Do the same.

"P. S.—Don't send us a report by postal card, as we want everything kept private. "THE ABOVE."

The President was authorized to send a dispatch to Mr. Lips as to the condition of the strike.

The meeting then adjourned.
